

Privacy Notice for Data Law Center

We work as consultants in the area of data protection – so privacy issues are very important to us. This makes it important for us to be transparent about how and why we process personal data. Personal data is data that can be linked directly or indirectly to you as a living person.

We never sell personal data or data – such as anonymised personal data – to anyone.

Depending on our relationship with you, we may process personal data about you, below addressed as you or data subject. For example, we process personal data about our customers and their representatives, suppliers and partners. If you have consented to the personal data processing we carry out, you have received separate information about how we process your personal data.

For more information about your personal data processing see the information below.

Where do we get your personal data from?

The personal data comes either from you or publicly available records. If we have not received the personal data from you, you will be specifically informed of this.

Your rights

As a data subject, you have rights. If you have comments on our personal data processing or are dissatisfied with our processing of your personal data, you can contact us. You also have the right to complain to the supervisory authority in Sweden, Swedish Authority for Privacy Protection (www.imy.se). If you live or work in another country, you can contact the supervisory authority of that country.

You also have a right to:

Access to your personal data –you have a right to access to the personal data we process about you and information about that personal data.

Correction of your personal data – you have the right to request that incorrect or incomplete personal data be corrected or supplemented.

Having your personal data deleted – you have the right to request that personal data about you that we process should be deleted.

Objecting to our personal data processing – if our processing is based on our legitimate interests, you can object to the processing of personal data. Unless we can show that our compelling legitimate interests outweigh your interests, rights and freedoms, we will cease processing personal data. This is unless the processing is necessary for the establishment, exercise or defence of our legal claims.

Requesting that the processing of your personal data be restricted – if you believe that our personal data processing is based on incorrect personal data, is illegal, that we do not need the personal data or you have objected to our personal data processing, you can request that we do not process the personal data for anything other than storage unless we have your consent or need to process the personal data linked to our legal claims.

These rights are not unconditional and are restricted by law or our legitimate interests if they outweigh your interests. If you wish to claim any of your rights against us, please use the contact details above.
